A significant body of work recognizes the healing potential of the healthcare relationship and how effective communication benefits both patients and providers. Recent data shows that improved communication skills decrease visit time and improve diagnostic accuracy.

Your patients value their relationships with you.

Build new skills and create a more fulfilling experience for both you and your patients.

Join us for a one-day, interactive session focused on relationship-centered communications. This engaging, participatory workshop from the new Center for Communication Excellence at University of Minnesota Health will provide you with new approaches to improving the patient experience and help you remember the joy of practicing medicine.
